

Dear Fellow Baconators,

Melanie began the evening by describing a protest organized for this Friday between 5 pm and 6 pm at 5400 Hanna Ranch Road. It will be at the entrance to Thompson Builders on the private property that is hosting a $75 per birthday party for Eric Lucan. We're protesting his pathetic lack of action and duplicity on the RVs illegally parked along Binford Road. We need as many bodies as possible to embarrass Lucan and his supporters! He wants to grandfather up to 100 of those illegally parked vehicles! It doesn't matter to him that they create public safety and public health hazards. It doesn't matter to him that they will continue polluting and trashing the environmentally sensitive Rush Creek Preserve wetlands. Check out the MMF Facebook page for more details.

Break for dinner. Mmm! Spaghetti with meatballs and Caesar salad. Anchovies!

Mel then introduced her friend and former colleague Ted Mueller, currently of Las Vegas and formerly of Novato. (Born, raised, educated, and long-time resident.) Ted was a producer for the Michael Savage show on KSFO.

He returns to Novato frequently and is saddened to see how it has declined, largely due to liberal government spinelessness.

Lots of small talk about Michael Savage, who wasn't well-liked by people that knew him. Apparently, it was difficult to work with him. He frequently initiated confrontations or had outbursts over the most trivial things.

Mia disagreed with that sentiment and mentioned how he was responsible for converting her from a liberal to a conservative. She went on to describe how she came to know him while living in Paradise Cay with her ex. He needed access around their home to get to his docked yacht. She didn't know who he was initially, but after hearing his voice several times she exclaimed "now I know who you are!" She then described sharing with him the difficulty she had having a child. Michael told her she was a beautiful person and that she should keep trying. Her daughter is the result of that effort. (It was a very touching story and made me reconsider my dislike for the man. He's brilliant but he's also too petty for his own good.)

Melanie agreed that he could be quite charming and relayed the story of how he stopped on his bicycle to play with her son on their lawn who was only 3 at the time. But he's still a schizo!

Mel then updated us on Toni Shroyer's herculean efforts on Binford Road and how she and her husband Jim are working their butts off. She's got people calling the CalTip hotline constantly, demanding that they take action to protect the wetlands. So much so that they aren't taking calls, and even told Melanie that she was a horrible person when she called.

She's using the Daily Mail and NY Post articles to shame the Marin County Supervisors to great effect. Ted Mueller pointed out the absolutely hypocrisy of the environmentalists regarding Binford Road. They're all sitting on their hands. Mel has started to go after Barbara Salzman of the Audubon Society for failing to defend the Rush Creek Preserve. (They helped fund its restoration.) Barbara Salzman in the hypocrite that stopped the dredging of the canal that once connected Bel Marin Keys to the bay for spurious reasons, ruining those property values. Yours truly encouraged Mel to always associate Barbara Salzman with the Audubon Society. It's time to shame her to donors of that organization.

Mel then asked me for an update on Election Integrity. I mentioned our well-received presentation at the Novato Republican Women Federated luncheon the day before and that we finally published our comprehensive report on the Marin County November 2022 general election. We found that like the state, elections are being stolen in Marin County. Most of the elections staff are hard workers dedicated to getting our elections right, but it only takes one or two to foul the results. We see evidence that results are being pushed down from the state. There are too many unnatural results and repetitious ratios, such as the identical turnouts we saw in 5 schoolboard races of which Tief's was one. There are several others described in our report, which is available as a PDF file at:

She announced some other excitement from yesterday's NWRF luncheon: Luke Shroyer announced his candidacy for State Assembly District 12. He's only 21 but he's an impressive young man! He presents a great opportunity for Republicans to make inroads to the youth of Marin and Sonoma Counties. If you'd like to support his candidacy, please consider sending a check payable to:

Tief went on to give an update on her race for a US House seat. She'll soon have an EIN for her campaign committee followed by a bank account and a donations page on her website. Woo hoo! FYI – Individuals can donate up to $3,300 to her campaign.

Her opponent, Jared Huffman (the an-Tief-a), has a ridiculous position on the issues and Tief intends to call him out on them all. They include:

- Supporting the Dreamers Act to address the invasion on our Southern border.
- He won't protect Tief's daughter, a college athlete, from men athletes pretending to be women, thereby subjecting her daughter to serious injury.
- Supporting the transexual movement and sexually mutilating young kids suffering from gender dysphoria
- Is pro-cannabis industry, even though it's a gateway drug and has been shown to be extremely harmful to children.

- He pretends to be an environmentalist but won't say anything about Binford Road.

Tief needs "keyboard warriors" to find and send her articles about those topics.

A free discussion on the ruination of the legal pot industry due to excessive state taxes and regulations ensued. It's beginning to adversely affect the illegal pot industry as well.

A free discussion of the mess Newsom created for himself on reparations was started by Melanie. Newsom is now claiming he never intended to fund them, which would more than triple state expenditures. Some felt blacks would feel cheated and the open season on white folks would intensify.

Then came the Trump v. De Santis debate. Still very strong feelings on both sides of that issue, especially when it comes to electability. Some blamed Trump for losing two GA senate races, when in fact it was L. Lin Wood and Sydney Powell that convinced Republicans not to vote in those special elections. Very little agreement on that point, either!

Fortunately, no gun fights erupted. It was time to go pack up and leave, then head to the parking lot for pictures with Ted Mueller.

Everyone returned home safely, anxious to attend the next Bacon meeting.

Alas, the every-other-week summer schedule has begun.

Next meeting at Bacon on Wednesday May 25, 2023, at 6:00 pm. Bring lots of friends to have a terrific meal and enjoy wonderful company!
